

July 8th

On this day in 1947 it was reported that debris from a flying disc had been found at Roswell. The American authorities said it was from a military balloon, but still today the theories of captured aliens continues.

